HASKELL MAY OPPOSE OWEN.

Oklahoma City, Oct. 30.—Returning from McAlester where he appeared in the town lot trials Gov. C. N. Haskell was given a welcome before daylight at the Rock Island depot. When the governor stepped from the sleeping car he was greeted by admirers who were present and cheered him. A band was on hand to play. The governor and Mrs. Haskell were escorted to an automobile and driven to their hotel followed by other cars and a few citizens marching. The band led the procession.

In the hotel lobby after a selection of two of music E. J. Giddings of Oklahoma City made a speech in which he briefly detailed the governor's arraignment at McAlester and dismissal of the cases upon the governor's motion. He nominated the governor for the democratic candidate for the United States senate.

from Oklahoma two years hence a seat now held by Robert L. Owen of Muskogee who is a candidate for election. Giddings was followed by W. A. Durant member of the legislature from Bray county.

Gov. Haskell thanked his friends a number of whom were state employees for their before-breakfast welcome and reception and referring to those of the state administration present said that without their help he could not have done so well in Oklahoma. The governor termed Col. Roosevelt the instigator of his prosecution and said by William Randolph Hearst. Several hundred telegrams of congratulations have been received by the governor since arriving home.

Mrs. Bettise Dead.

Mrs. Sarah D. Bettise died yesterday afternoon at 6:10 o'clock at the home of her daughter Mrs. Will Cole. Her death was due to paralysis from which she had suffered for several months. Besides her daughter two sons George and J. W. Bettise were at her bedside when death came. Deceased was a consistent Christian and was a member of the Baptist church. The funeral took place this afternoon and the remains were laid to rest at Rosedale cemetery.

Big Crowd in Town.

Ada has received one of the biggest lot of visitors today business and otherwise that have come to town in many a day. One man was heard remark "I did not know I was in Oklahoma City. Another good humorously yelled out as he elbowed his way along Main. I want to know where all you folks came from and how did you get here."

New Business Man Arrives.

J. B. Bunch arrived from St. Louis this afternoon and will lose no time in preparing for the opening of the Gubin Parake store mentioned a few days ago. They will occupy the building on east Main street formerly occupied by the Racket store and will carry a full line of everything that any man woman or child wears. The company owns stores at St. Louis and Pauls Valley and we welcome them to our town. They are progressive men and will no doubt win a good trade from the very beginning.

Democrats Fail to Meet.

A meeting of the Democratic County Central Committee was called for this afternoon, but a quorum failed to materialize and the meeting was postponed.

NEW YORK DEMOCRATS IN CONVENTION

NOMINATE JNO. A. DIX FOR GOV.
ERROR—MUCH ENTHUSIASM MANIFESTED.

Rochester, N. Y., Convention Hall, Sept. 30.—In a love feast that was remarkable from the party viewpoint the Democratic State convention came to an end tonight.

There was one scene reminding of old when hisses were showered upon an Alexander S. Bacon for lauding an independent movement. Only two candidates were named—John A. Dix and Representative Sulzer. Mr. Dix received 414 votes and Mr. Sulzer 16.

The vote for Mr. Dix was made unanimous and a cheer swept through the hall.

There were a few cries of "No" as the room subsided.

Location of Sulzer's Sixteen Votes. The sixteen Sulzer votes came from Chataqua which cast 2 Delaware Franklin 3 Fulton and Hamilton 1 Genesee 3 and Seneca 1.

Scene of Enthusiasm and Harmony. Scenes of enthusiasm and demonstrations of harmony which formed a striking contrast with the drawn battle fought out by the republicans at Saratoga marked the session and sent joy to the hearts of the party men who entered the convention. There was a solid battle front and possessed a firm confidence that for the first time in seventeen years they will sweep their standard bearers to victory in November.

Outlook Once Was Very Dismal. A series of conferences and caucuses of delegations preceded the night session and the outlook for harmony at that time was dismal. For hours the party managers labored with the various delegations striving to bring about peace. Norman L. Wick the National chairman, Mr. Dix the state chairman and many of the more prominent men in the directory of the state used their skill and sense to prevent a break in the party lines and to preclude the opening of wounds which only recently have healed.

Conservative Element Falls in Line. The conservative element and the other factions except those backing Mr. Sulzer fell gracefully into line and the Sulzer men while strong for the candidate fell in to line after they had lost.

Sulzer Will Not Aid This Time.

Mr. Sulzer declined to step aside for Mr. Dix or any one else in a good natured but firm manner. He declared that he felt it his duty to let the delegates who had worked for him place him before the convention in at least three other state conventions. Mr. Sulzer had gracefully resigned and withdrawn after a waging vigorous campaign for nominations and this time he was resolved to go down fighting.

Demonstration for New York Lawyer.

The demonstration that followed the presentation of his name showed beyond question that he stands high in the estimation of the people up state. Cheers nearly equal in volume to those that greeted the name of Mr. Dix swept through the packed convention hall and echoed in a chorus about of Sulzer. The New York lawyer who bears a striking resemblance to Patrick Henry remained in his seat with a smile that was on his face showed plainly how keenly he appreciated the tribute. He knew he would lose Tammany Hall with which he has been identified for years had refused to stand by him as it had in the other years and without its backing his fight was hopeless.

All the other nominations by acclamation mark the convention as the most remarkable convention held by the democrats in a generation.

The session came to a close shortly after midnight with a demonstration that will not soon be forgotten by the 5,000 persons who heard it.

L. C. Lindsay was up from Pittsburgh to attend the reunion today.

Andy Morris Out on Bail.

Andy Morris who with Luke Jenkins is charged with perjury in the Bill Nutt trial made the $2,000 bond required on yesterday afternoon and was released from jail.

Negro Robbed.

Bob Peters a negro living on Sandy sold some cotton in town yesterday for a negro woman in his community.

He left here for Center with $85 but arrived at his destination twenty-four hours late minus the money and a six-shooter so he states.

Some of the money $20 was coming to Minor Copland a merchant of Center. Peters reported he had been held up and robbed on the way by two other negroes.

News has been received here that the two suspects have been apprehended but upon investigation by the officers it was learned that they won Peter money in a plain old crap game.

CONFEDERATE PICNIC AND REUNION.

The Confederate veterans are holding their reunion and picnic today at the city park. There is a good attendance of the old soldiers there being possibly forty or fifty present. A good dinner was served at noon which was greatly relished by the veterans and a fair sized crowd of their friends who turned out. The old soldiers seemed to greatly enjoy talking over old times together and the younger ones took great interest in hearing them talk.

After dinner Hon. Tom D. McKown welcomed the veterans to the city on behalf of the mayor and on behalf of the local camp Hon. J. P. Crawford made a feeling response. Mrs. Clemmons of Oklahoma City president of the state organization of the U. D. C.

told of the work in behalf of the Confederate home at Ardmore and of what a lot to be done to make the worn out veterans and their wives and widows comfortable. Hon. C. B. Emanuel of Sulphur was the next speaker. He spoke of the causes leading up to the struggle one of which was the fact that the people of the two sections did not understand each other. He said that the war was not caused by slavery but by the fact that the government fell into the hands of an intensely partisan class that was determined to force the South to adopt its ideas and it seemed upon the slavery question as if the best means to that end. He said that the South did not secede because it wanted to be out of the union. It had always been more loyal to the union than any other section. The constitution itself was principally the work of southern men. Secession was brought about because the people loved their rights and thought that this was the only way they could enjoy them in peace. They had withdrawn with the idea of keeping peace and did not fight until threatened with invasion. He paid a glowing tribute to the women of the South maintaining that a Southern army could not have remained in the field six months had it not been for the work of the women. He did not like to hear the southern cause spoken of as a lost cause for it still lives but in another form. There are still those who would obliterate state lines and centralize the national government and the fight between the opposing forces still goes on.

W. W. Gilmer of Ardmore, who has been engaged for the past two years in pushing the Confederate home enterprise was speaking when the reporter left the grounds. He told of the work that has been accomplished. The building has been almost completed and material is on the ground for the remaining work but some funds are yet needed to finish it. He declared that by the first of January the home will be completed and many an old soldier will be saved from spending his last days in a poor house.

Although not as well attended as some of the picnics of the summer, we consider this one a decided success. There were just enough on the grounds to make everything pleasant and every one feel at home.

THE UGLY DUCKLING.

In my boyhood days I read in Anderson's fairy tales a story of an ugly duckling which on account of its lack of admirable qualities was kicked about and made to feel its humiliating position on every occasion. Its spirit was almost broken by many rebuffs and the cruelty of all around it; but later it developed that it was a young swan which when fully grown was the most beautiful of the flock.

That was only a pleasing story then, but as my experience with life has lengthened, I have seen much more in that little story. Both as a pupil and later as a teacher I have come in contact with boys and girls who gave little promise of making anything of themselves. Yes, and who were the butt of many heartless jokes at the hands of their more fortunate fellows, but as I look back over the years I find that few of those who gave most promise have justified what was expected of them.
Success has gone to the plodders who had the nerve to fight the battle through with unflinching courage.
Not a man who graduated at the head of his class at West Point ever made a general of any note. The laurels went to some Stonewall Jackson, Lee or Grant who realizing their shortcomings made up for their deficiencies with hard work.

My sympathy has always been with these apparently dull pupils, for what they have to endure often crushes their spirit and wrecks what might otherwise have been useful lives. At home and at school they are made to feel their inferiority until they lose the self-confidence that is an essential part of the make-up of a successful man or woman. It has always been my idea that they should be encouraged to put forth every effort and made to feel that the old fable of the hare and tortoise is true in every day life and that while their more brilliant competitors are resting on their early and easily won laurels, they may slip past and be already at the goal when the one swifter of foot arrives on the scene.

SOUTHERN COLLEGES.

Among other things the civil war wrought destruction to the schools of the South. At the close of the struggle there was scarcely a college worthy of the name in the entire South. The work of re-establishing and maintaining these schools has been most remarkable, but I sometimes wonder why philanthropists who are devoting their millions to the work of endowing institutions of learning should have almost ignored this section where there is such a fertile field for the employment of their money. Southern colleges have been hampered on account of meager funds, but they have accomplished work of which any people may well feel proud. However, their field of usefulness will be greatly broadened when they are properly endowed. As matters stand now the total endowment of all colleges in the Southern states amounts to less than that of any one of several schools in the North. Only five Southern institutions have a million or more. Rice Institute of Houston, Texas, when it opens its doors, will be able to boast of an endowment of $3,500,000, the gift of the late W. M.
Rice for whose murder A. T. Patrick is serving a life sentence in the New York penitentiary. The University of Texas comes next with lands valued at nearly $3,000,000. Then comes Tulane of New Orleans with about $2,- 000,000. Vanderbilt is next in order with $1,500,000, and Peabody College at Nashville has lately been endowed with a little more than $1,000,000.
The University of Virginia has something in the neighborhood of $1,000,- 000, and Booker Washington's school at Tuskegee, Alabama, has about the same. Many smaller schools have made a beginning that greatly aids their work, and as the country increases in wealth, these, too, may be given enough to make them independent of the support received from tuition fees.

In looking up argument both in favor of and against Socialism, it is a little strange that neither side has ever quoted Prescott's Conquest of Peru. Before the Spanish conquest socialism was in full force under the Incas, and Prescott devotes a chapter to its consideration. It was exactly the same sort of socialism we hear argued today, too. After giving both the good points and bad ones of this form of government, the historian gives it as his conclusion that it was despotism of the most oppressive kind.

The district court at Sulphur has been engaged all week in hearing the famous high school location controversy between factions in Sulphur.
Judge McMillan was sworn off the bench and Attorney Albert Renate of Pauls Valley selected to try the case. Five prominent lawyers of the district are employed in the case.

Our Sulphur neighbors are "tired with the goods" when it comes to factious and town fights.—Davis News.

The whiskey peddler has been eliminated from the confines of Stonewall and it is now a very dry town and on the streets women and children are no longer a danger of listening to profane and obscene language from a drunken rabble.—Stonewall News.

Will Arbitrate Boundary Dispute.
Washington, Sept. 29.—The Washington government will participate in an arbitration of the long standing dispute with Mexico over the international boundary at El Paso, Tex., with in a year. Secretary Knox has appointed William C. Dennis, formerly solicitor of the department of the state and now at the Hague arbitrator of the United States in the Onimoco Steamship company arbitration with Venezuela, as agent for the United States in the El Paso case.

BRILES

Is Vindicated of the Allegations Made Against Him by Enemies.

The "charges" against Superintendent Briles of Ada, who was formerly in this city as superintendent of the Muskegee schools have "gone up in smoke."

At a mass meeting in Ada a few days ago the whole matter was affected to the bottom and the citizens by unanimous vote declared the matter without the slightest foundation. The story appears to have been given out at Guthrie and was published in the Oklahoma City Times. The Times-Democrat and other papers of the state also carried the story, this paper also printing the statement that the people of this city would not believe a word of it.

Investigation of the so-called charges indicate that they were the result of spite work on the part of someone and grew out of politics.

Mr. Briles has many friends in this city who will be glad to know of the splendid vindication given him by the people of Ada. But few, if any of them, ever for a moment regarded the story that he had been guilty of any wrong as worthy of serious consideration.—Muskegee Times Democrat. 152-It

"Three Days' Rations."

In the center of the tables groaning under weight of good things today at the Confederate picnic, Gen.
Crow placed what constituted three days rations for a Confederate soldier in 1864. He had announced before hand that he was going to do this, so we were all watching for it.
Few of us younger people having much idea what was coming. Well, this ration consisted of three ears of corn roasted in the camp fires and two pieces of corn bread baked in the ashes. When one stops to consider how these men starved and fought for four long years for a principle and for honor, we are moved with deeper admiration and reverence than ever, both for the Confederate soldier and the cause for which he fought. It is indeed a proud heritage they have left their descendants. It cannot be measured in dollars and cents, but what is money compared with honor?

WHEN HER BACK ACHES

A Woman Finds All Her Energy and Ambition Slipping Away.

Ada women know how the aches and pains that come when the kidneys fail make life a burden. Backache, hip pains, headaches, dizzy spells, distressing urinary troubles, all tell of sick kidneys and warn you of the stealthy approach of diabetes, dropsy and Bright's disease. Doan's Kidney Pills permanently cure all these disorders.

Can Ada sufferers desire stronger proof than this woman's words?

Mrs. H. L. Sadler, of Coalgate, Ok., says: "Doan's Kidney Pills did more for me than any other kidney remedy I ever used. I suffered for more than three years from kidney disease in a severe form. My back ached constantly and there were dull, bearing down pains through my loins. I was also subject to dizzy spells and at times my sight became blurred. When the attacks were at their height, I was helpless and had to sit down. I doctored and tried everything I could think of in the hope of finding relief, but I was only helped temporarily. Finally I procured a box of Doan's Kidney Pills and shortly after beginning their use, I received a complete cure."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other. 31 long.

"The Way of the Cross"

(Edited by the W C T U)

You want to get a correct understanding of Temperance? moderate stealing, moderate swearing, moderate fornication would not be temperance. The revised version of New Testament substitutes for temperance, self control. That is better. He who has himself in hand under control will not indulge in any stealing, fornication, lying, etc. A good definition of temperance for you is that kind of self-control which leads one to a right use of that which is good and a total abstinence of that which is bad. No kind of regulation could give us complete supply of saloons because the saloon is bad and only bad. No kind of moderation can give us a temperate use of alcoholic drinks as a beverage for such use is bad and only bad and leads to that which is worse.

Keep it before the intelligent voters all the time that the licensing of saloons is a special privilege. It is contrary to every principle in a democratic government. Monarchical governments assume the right to give to a few persons special rights but democratic governments do not claim such right. Our doctrine is equal rights to all and special privileges to none. It is bad enough to grant special privileges to the very best people in the community and the less we do of this the better for us as a people. No sane man would think of voting to one man in a thousand a special privilege to sell all the clothing that might be sold in a town of one thousand inhabitants or to dispense all the medicine which might be needed in this town of one thousand. Why not? Clothes and medicine are good things and in universal use by civilized people. But it is contrary to right principles of government to grant a special privilege to any limited number of persons to make or sell these articles. It is just as great a violation of the fundamental principles of our government and ten thousand times more unrighteous to grant a special privilege to a limited number of persons to conduct a saloon or dispense all the liquors that may be sold in a certain territory.

If it is not right my brother to license that which is right how can you for one short minute think of licensing for a consideration that which is of itself wrong and from which only bad can come.

There is no kind of right in the local option method of thing the saloon question unless every person interested in the opening of the saloon be allowed to vote on the question. If all the high school students, normal and college students who are attending school in the territory affected all the mothers, sisters, wives and sweethearts who may be made to shed bitter tears by the opening of a saloon in a given territory, all the farmers who feel an interest in the town which they have banded and in which the saloon may be opened be heard on the question then and then only has the local option any kind of claim to right and right voters in submitting to a vote the question of licensing a saloon. But by the terms of the proposed waltzky amendment to the constitution of Oklahoma all these class are excluded from the voters who are to decide to whether a saloon may be opened in a given town or village. The people who have been asking for local option do not really want to give us a square deal on this pet scheme of local option. But the voters of Oklahoma are going to demand a square deal. We are not going to accept local option with the option left out. We and saloon advocates have always depended largely on the county vote to win the battle against the saloons and we are not going to adopt any constitutional amendment which will disfranchise the friends of the home state the school the church who have the good fortune to live outside the incorporated towns.

Evidently this amendment is written by those who do not know the country at all. This proposed amendment does not give the farmers credit for having any kind of conception of their duty as citizens or any kind of intelligent understanding of their rights as American freemen. And that is just where the smart aleck always falls down on his plans. He reckons that the American farmer is an ignoramus who is easily deceived on any and all questions of government.

MY DOCTOR MIGHTY FINE

Mrs. Hattie Cain of Carrsville Thinks all the More of Her Doctor Since He Advised Her to Take Cardui.

Carrsville, Ky.—"My doctor," writes Mrs. Hattie Cain, "who advised me to take Cardui, for my troubles, is a mighty fine doctor, and I say God bless Cardui and the people who make it."

"Before I took Cardui, I suffered with female troubles for sixteen years. I would have to send for a doctor every three months, and oh! how dreadfully I suffered!"

"I would cramp and have convulsions and it looked like I would die. At last I took Cardui and oh! what a surprise! I found it was the medicine for me!"

"From the first bottle, I began to mend and now I am well, can do more work, can walk and go where I please and it doesn't hurt me, and I owe it all to Cardui."

Cardui helps sick women back to health. It has been doing this for over 50 years. It is not a laxative, or a heart or kidney medicine—it is a woman's medicine.

If you are a woman, try it.

"FROM RAGS TO ROBES."

Subject of Last Night's Services. Heaven's Fruit Is Here Hung So Low That the Pauper May Reach Up and Pluck from the Tree of Life.

There will be no services at the Christian church this evening. The Sunday morning subject will be especially interesting. What Does It Mean to Be Lost? will be discussed. At the evening hour 7:45 the subject will be The Way of the Cross. The meeting will continue on through next week.

Last evening the subject of the discourse was From Rags to Robes. Pastor Luke 13:1-14. The minister said in part:

This parable is a spark struck off the anvil of events. It is at once a history a song a prophecy. As a masterpiece in literature it has never been equalled. Heaven's fruit is here hung so low the pauper may reach up and pluck from the tree of life it is also a soul tragedy. The kind heart of Jesus found the cause of tragedy in the fact that the man was not himself. The tricks and frauds of sin the allurements to the unsuspecting are shown. Sin's disguise is torn off with uncompromising hand and the hideous form is in the open.

An astronomer gave an entertainment for his friends when the rings of Saturn were visible. A fog came up. The scientist not to be cheated out of his chief attraction, rigged up a pastboard Saturn and several painted paper rings. A lantern was placed behind the pastboard and his guests were bidden to view the scene. They went away delighted with the wonders of astronomy. But what was the truth? Instead of a planet millions of miles around it was an old circular card board 20 inches in diameter and an old 30c lantern. No otherwise are the shadows of the devil Jesus would warn us of the lures of sin and what a soul separated from God will come to.

What Brought Him to Rags? 1. Restlessness. A restless disposition is a dangerous indication. We should analyze well before acting. Our young men are not satisfied to stay at home until they have become fixed in great life principles. Our whole life is fast becoming a demand for something new.

2. Request. Give me my portion is the next step. Man's free agency permits him to withdraw fellowship from God. It is a bad dissolution. But man has no right to indulge in the abuse of his powers.

3. Result. Spent all. Yes a stone in a moment can destroy an art window that it takes years to fashion. How delicate is character. Sin has done its terrible work. The screen is torn off. The gay picture has assumed the skeleton's head. Promising the charm of life it gives the dregs of hell. The devil tries to hide many dirty attractions and demoralizing games by offering special inducements to ladies to get them there. A box of Huyler's is used as a bait. But where the buzzards hang out there always something dead around there. Watch where the loafers hang out in Ada. That's all you need to queer a place. Why will our women allow themselves to be used as a cat's paw?

What Brought Him to Robes? He reflected. Here's humanity's weakness. We crush out those things that are driving us to serious thinking. We like to fool ourselves into thinking they are only weak spells. That minister who can get his people and the community to reflecting has done them an untold service. Reflection is the good road that leads on to the next step of ascension.

2. Resolve. The battle is won when a good firm resolve is made.

3. Return. Here's conversion in action.

4. Reception. His rags become by the divine hand royal robes. The whole house hold is astir in the greeting of a returned soul.

In this incident is shown the result of a soul being separated from God. In want vain effort to fill. The awful tragedy sin works in the home is shown in the long vigil of the father and the eagerness to know of the wayward child. How terrible is sin. Passion was at first his minister but it soon became his tyrant. Men can't tamper with sin.

But the insignia of righteousness and his own robe awaits all who are in sin. Here is the tragedy of glory of man's own choosing. I will is the difference between palat and pig pen and rags and robes. It is a bridge which spans the chasm between being or when in sin and deluged in divinity. Whosoever will rings its claron call all the way through God's word.

FREIGHT BY WATER

COSTS ONLY ONE SIXTH TO ONE TENTH AS MUCH AS BY RAIL.

TRANSPORTATION'S BIG TOLL

American People Annually Pay Out Three Times as Much for Transportation as They Pay for Support of the Government.

Do you know That the people of the United States pay out each year about three times as much in transportation taxes that is for the carriage of freight and passengers as they pay in taxes for the support of government national state and local?

That transportation affects the price of everything that everybody buys sells eats wears or uses in any way whatever—air water and sunshine excepted?

That cheap transportation benefits both the producer and the consumer making wheat and cotton higher and flour and cloth lower at one and the same time?

That the cheapest known transportation is water transportation costing on the average from one sixth to one tenth as much as transportation by rail?

That the direct saving on the goods actually carried by water in the United States is over $550,000,000 a year?

That railways always make lower rates when subject to the competition of waterways than where such competition does not exist?

That the indirect saving thus caused is probably as large as the direct saving given above?

That both the direct and indirect saving would be largely increased by the further improvement of our waterways?

That waterways always increase the profits of the railways with which they come into competition? For the reason that waterways by giving cheap transportation for raw materials actually create both industry and commerce? As is indicated by the fact that in 1900 there was only one city in the United States with a population of 150,000 or over which was not located on a navigable waterway? And Judge and Mrs. C. A. Galbreath will spend next week in Oklahoma City.
